Related Courses	All other courses of the Summer Program
Theme	A Short History of Urbanization in Japan
Learning Objectives	This course has three major objectives: 1) Providing basic knowledge about the history of cities and their development in Japan. 2) Learning about factors that drive urbanization and the different forms of cities they create. 3) Learning about the major characteristics of Japanese cities.
Keyword(s)	cities, urban planning, urban geography, history, Japan
Course Overview	In this course, students learn about the development and characteristics of cities in Japan. It discusses their emergence and change from an historical perspective, while drawing on examples of several cities from all over Japan. The course starts with early urban settlements like the Heijō-kyō at the beginning of the 8th century. It follows the development of cities showing for instance the emerging of large urban centers during the Edo-period, or of the first complex urban planning system at the beginning of the 20th century, until reaching issues cities are confronted with today. The focus lies, especially on institutions and policies that created and formed cities in Japan, providing a wide knowledge that enables to better understand urban issues and ongoing debates about their further development.
Course Format	This course is a lecture in which students are expected to watch the videos provided on WebClass and do the assignments.
Weekly Syllabus	Class 1: Introduction & Cities in the classical era 1 Class 2: Cities in the classical era 2 & Cities in the medieval era 1 Class 3: Cities in the medieval era 2 & Cities in the early modern era 1 Class 4: Cities in the early modern era 2 & Report 1 Class 5: Cities in the early modern era 3 & Cities in the modern era 1 Class 6: Cities in the modern era 2 & Cities in the modern era 3 Class 7: Contemporary cities 1 & Contemporary cities 2 Class 8: Contemporary cities 3 & Report 2

Grading	Students will be evaluated during the semester based on assignments. These are comments, which are written directly after class, and short reports, which are written over the course of one week. Comments: Account for 40% of the final grade and are required in class 1-3 and class 5-7 Short reports: Account for 60% of the final grade and are required in week 4 and 8 (some time is available to write the short reports)
Grading Standard	In accordance with the Regulations Concerning Accreditation of Credit Acquisition of Saitama University, the following evaluation will be made according to how much the student has achieved the attainment objectives of the class. "Exceeded the achievement target and excelled in particular": GP = 4 "Exceeded the achievement target": GP=3, Satisfactory": GP=2 "Minimal achievement": GP=1 "Not meeting the achievement goal": GP = 0. GPs of 1.5, 2.5, and 3.5 may also be given.
Textbook(s)	Note : Handouts and videos can be downloaded from WebClass. They contain the whole information discussed in class and necessary for the assignments.
Reference Book(s)	Note : Suggestions for further reading can be found on the handouts.
Message to Students	Like most aspects of life, also the glittering façades of modern Japanese cities are shaped by their past, being the result of a more than 1300 year-long history. The study of historical cities provides us the tools to get a deeper understanding of today's urban landscapes, the living environment of the majority of Japan's population, and issues associated with it.
